A Principal's Perspective on Data Notebooks

Data notebooks are used in our first grade classroom. It is a place for the students to keep track of their own work and their own successes. We graph our reading, math, and writing data by using the attached graphs. We store our graphs in our individual data notebook binders. This is the information that is shared at our student-led conferences.

I've been using a Student Data Binder in various forms for about 5 years and I must say it is one of my teacher staples. It's easy to grab for important meetings like IEP's, PST's (intervention), RTI's, and parent conferences. I reference it whenever I am grouping students, and pull it out when discussing student data at our PLC's.
