Keeping the Moon by Sarah Dessen - Goodreads
In Sarah's Words Keeping the Moon was the last book I wrote while working at the Flying Burrito, and because of that it is thick in all of my best waitress stuff. I think I got a lot more confident working there, and I wanted to use that experience to say something bigger about the fact that no matter how you look, it's what is inside that gets you where you truly are meant to be.

Keeping the Moon is a young adult novel by American author Sarah Dessen, first published in 1999. Its protagonist is Nicole Sparks, nicknamed Colie, a formerly overweight and currently insecure girl who lives with her single mother. The two move frequently, often living in their car while her mother searches for a new job. Although I've read Sarah Dessen books before (That Summer and Someone Like You) I wasn't seeing what everyone loved so much about them. That is, until I read this book. Keeping the Moon begins at the train station, where Nicole Sparks is being shipped off to her eccentric aunt Mira's for the summer while her mom tours Europe, promoting her tips for weight loss.
