During the retreat that Mary opened with her words, "You have nothing to do, nowhere to go, and nothing to be," I remember a specific walking meditation during which I contemplated these ideas. I suddenly saw myself standing behind a building facade, like the kind you might find on a movie backlot, and holding it up with both hands.

This post is a re-publication of “Nowhere to Go... Nothing to Do”, though 9 years later, it’s acutely relevant today. Sadly, like other urban areas of the USA, our city of Durham has experienced 10 shootings with multiple people injured and 2 deaths over the last few days.

Nothing To Do Nowhere Go

He is able to encapsulate Linji's philosophy in his characteristically memorable way: the enlightened person has nothing to do, nowhere to go. Also true to form, he offers easy breathing practices based on what Linji says. The book could be better organized; the text and commentaries are in separate chapters,...

Call this depression if you want to, but I will disagree. For quite some time now, I feel like I have nowhere to go, nothing to do, and no one to visit. I live in a small town. Traveling or moving out of town is absolutely not financially possible for me. I am bored to death of everything! After almost 40 years of living here, I feel like I have seen and done everything there is to do here.

How do you get out of a relationship when you have no money, no family support and nowhere to go? You need strength, courage, and a thoughtful plan. Most important: don't allow feelings of helplessness and hopelessness overcome you! Your feelings are powerful, but don't have to control you.

With nowhere to go and nothing to do — there is only waiting

Nothing To Do, Nowhere To Go BY Thich Nhat Hanh Many of us have spent our whole lives learning, questioning, and searching. But even on the path of enlightenment, if all we do is study, we're wasting our time and that of our teacher. This doesn't mean we shouldn't study; study and practice help each other.

Dharma Talk: Nothing To Do, Nowhere To Go, No One To Be

"Here, Now, In this moment. We have nothing to do; nowhere to go; no one to be." Yes! Yes... yes. That is it for me. I spend all my time planning what I will do next or go to or how I need to be for others. When all these thoughts lead me away from being truly present and live now.
